THE PSCI PRINCIPLES FOR RESPONSIBLE SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

This document outlines the PSCI Principles for Responsible Supply Chain Management (the “Principles”) for human rights*, ethics, labor, health and safety, environment and related management systems. The Principles may be voluntarily supported by any business in the pharmaceutical industry.

Companies supporting the Principles:

◼ will integrate and apply these Principles in a manner consistent with their own supplier programs.

◼ understand that society and business are best served by responsible business behaviors and practices. Fundamental to this understanding is that a business must, at a minimum, operate in full compliance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations.

◼ are aware of differences in culture and the challenges associated with interpreting and applying these Principles globally. While companies supporting the Principles understand that what is expected is universal, it is understood that the methods for meeting these expectations may differ dependent on size and location.

◼ understand the Principles are best implemented through a continual improvement approach that advances supplier performance over time.

The PSCI Implementation Guide provides examples of business practices and performance related to the Principles.

*The term “human rights” in these Principles is defined in accordance with the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, which we accept as the internationally agreed standard for the corporate responsibility to respect human rights.
